What do you know about Moscow?
Can you answer the questions?

1. Who founded Moscow?
2. Was Moscow always the capital of Russia?
3. How did Moscow get its name?

Read the text and check your answers.

Coat of Arms
of Moscow

Anthem
of Moscow

Moscow is an old city. Prince Yuri Dolgoruki founded it in 1147. He was Prince of Kiev and it was the capital of the country called Kievan Rus. Many years passed. Prince Yuri was an old man and he decided to visit his son in Vladimir. The journey was long and difficult. One day, when Prince was in the dark forest, he suddenly saw a white large cloud. The cloud slowly turned into a huge animal with three heads. Then it disappeared. "It is a sign!" - thought Prince. "This is the place for a great city".

A few hours later Prince reached a small village on the bank of the Moskva river. The ruler of the place was boyarin* Stepan Kuchko. He didn't open the gates and a fight began. Prince Yuri and his men won the battle. It was then that the Prince said, "This is a place for a new town. I will build it here and call it Moskva."

Today, Moskva or Moscow, is the capital of Russia and one of the most famous cities in the world.

*boyarin - a member of a class of higher Russian nobility.
